Issue 4 3.2.2017

February is upon us. Have we seen the last of the cold weather? The Academy has continued to be a hive of activity this week. I have enjoyed popping into lessons and learning all about Britons, Africa, and even teaching a little about the Maasai Tribes. I have seen work on the Romans, Teeth (not Romans' teeth, just teeth) and how our joints move. With our Maths Mastery curriculum really moving the children's understanding of mathematical concepts on, Read, Write Inc. continuing, and Literacy and Language getting on to the Writing Stages of the unit, the children are all working really hard.

Please do check out the class pages on the school website. They are updated weekly by the teachers and hopefully you'll begin to see pictures of children's work, links to useful web pages as well as this week's edition of the newsletter. This week, we have also had the NSPCC in school to do assemblies on how children should Stay Safe and Speaking Out if they need to. Please do take sometime this weekend to talk to your children about staying safe. Whether that is when they are out and about, or even in the house. We look forward to the NSPCC returning next week to do more in-depth work with our Junior Classes (please see the separate letter sent out today).

Hopefully, I see many of you on the yard on Monday morning, but in the meantime, I hope you have a lovely weekend and that you are able to make the most of what is planned to be a dry and warm(ish) few days.
